

Python Docstring

Docstring stands for documentation string,

A docstring is used inside a statement, function, and class to give some additional information about those.

To use a docstring, we use triple quotes either `"""` or `'''`. The only difference between a docstring and comment is you can call the docstring text by using the special keyword `__doc__`.

def get():
    '''this is creative design & multimedia instutute'''

print(get())
print(get.__doc__)
```
